

Skepto International Film Festival 2018 - Rules

GENERAL INFO's

Skepto International Film Festival has a competitive nature and it is open to short films with no limits as to their subject, style or production budget. It is open to short films of all kinds, including documentaries, musical videoclips, videoart, experimental short films, spots, fake trailers, new media format, mobile videos, etc.

The main aim of Skepto International Film Festival is to encourage and give exposure to independent filmmakers from all over the world thereby creating an open space for dialogue and intercultural exchange.

Submission deadline is December 4th, 2017 (see "SUBMISSION AND DEADLINE").

The 9th edition of Skepto IFF will take place in Cagliari on April 2018, with collateral screenings in the same dates or during the following months (before the end of 2018 – we plan to organise at least two events in other Sardinian locations and two in other Italian or international cities). Submission and acceptance of these rules imply the agreement to the screening of the submitted films during the Skepto International Film Festival and, if not explicitly denied, during the above-mentioned collateral events. The exact dates will be published on the official site of the Festival www.skepto.net

Submission fees

Submission fee is 9 € (Reelport) or 7 € + fee (Festhome) it will be payed at the time of submission, through Reelport or Festhome.

SELECTION AND SCREENINGS

All the properly submitted short films will be viewed by at least four pre-selection juries that, under the supervision of the Festival's Artistic Direction, will select the movies that will be screened during the Festival and, among these, those which will be viewed by the official jury for the choice of the finalists and the awarding. The short films selected for the screenings, but not included among the finalists, will be screened in the out of competition section "Free style" or in one of the thematic sections.

The list of the selected films will be published on the official website www.skepto.net and the selected submitters will be notified by email before February 2018.

The programme and the screening schedules will be available on the Festival website www.skepto.net.

Submission and acceptance of these rules imply the agreement to the screening of the submitted films during the Skepto International Film Festival, that will take place in Cagliari on April 2018, and - if not explicitly denied - during the collateral screenings in the same dates or in the following months (before the end of 2018 - we plan to organise at least two events in other Sardinian locations and two in other Italian or international cities).

The short films for these screenings will be sent to the local bases in digital protected format, together with a confidentiality agreement that will safeguard the authors' and festival's interests; the local bases will accept the responsibility of the screening, only and exclusively in the fixed time and place, and they commit themselves to destroy the files immediately after the screening. If you don't want to give your agreement to these collateral screenings, please send us an e-mail at info@skeptonet.net. The missing adherence to the parallel screenings will not affect in any way the judgement of the movies in the pre-selection phase neither the decisions of the official jury.

GENERAL RULES

The author warrants the submission of his/her original work and there are no disputes regarding the ownership of his/her submission. He/she warrants the submitted material does not defame or invade the rights of any person living or dead and he fully indemnify Skepto International Film Festival against any claim made for such violations of law.

Signing the entry form means a complete acceptance of all the rules. Festival management will make the final decision about anything not already included in these rules.

The Festival jury's decision about the selection of the movies for the screening and the awarding is final.

If the number of the works in one or more sections of the festival is deemed insufficient, the Festival is entitled to cancel the section. Authors will be informed on time and fees will be given back.

The Festival has the right to use, freely and only for promotional purposes, 45 seconds excerpts of each selected movie, the stills and all the additional material.
